

LEARNING FOR LIFE NOMINATION FORM

Orlean Beeson School of Education graduates leave and make a great impact on their community through their servant leadership. The Learning for Life award seeks to honor our graduates who exemplify leadership in the classroom, school administration, churches, mission organizations, non-profits, businesses, volunteer organizations and more.

If you know an Orlean Beeson School of Education graduate who excels in his or her career and/or makes a significant impact in the lives of others, we encourage you to nominate them for this honor.

For a nomination to be considered complete, it must include the following items:

- Completed nomination form
- A description of the nominee's distinctive characteristics and/or accomplishments that reflect the award criteria (not to exceed 350 words)

LEARNING FOR LIFE AWARD CRITERIA

In 2015, in celebration of its 100th anniversary, Orlean Beeson School of Education established the Learning for Life Award to honor outstanding education alumni that make a significant impact in the lives of others.

The mission of the education school is to, “enrich the community and empower its students to educate, lead, and serve.” Additionally, one of the school’s core values states its commitment to lifelong learning. Two statements that the Learning for Life Award celebrates and chosen honorees emulate.

Although their career paths may be different, recipients are all similar in the way that they have made a notable influence in their respective fields of study, in their local communities and the world. We are proud of the different ways that our education graduates impact our world for Christ.

Nominees should reflect one or more of the following:

- Outstanding contribution to his/her profession
- Outstanding contribution to the general welfare of the community, state, nation or world
- Outstanding contribution or service to Orlean Beeson School of Education
- Honors, awards, distinctions
- Passion for lifelong learning
